

Dear Bob,

I recently referred her services to one of my largest clients.

I have used Abby's services without hesitation in some of my most important business dealings, and we continue to build an excellent business relationship based on her skills, qualifications and record of success.

In addition, Abby is personally very enjoyable to work with. PR is the art of human relations and Abby truly excels in this area.

Dear Debra,

I would love sharing my experience when it comes to Abby. When it comes to Marketing, Publicity and PR, Abby knows this business. One of Abby's greatest assets is her ability to connect with people of all walks of life.

She can connect with the street poet to the corporate board room executive/sponsor. She is very diverse, creative and energetic. She thinks outside of the box. She has a winning personality and a go getter. She knows how to self/jump start a campaign without supervision and she will keep you updated so you know the progress.

Even when the contract is over, Abby will still keep in touch with you, send you great ideas and forward anything that comes to her attention that should be forward to you. She is a very honest and down-to-earth person. If everyone operated with her work ethics, the world would be a better place. Smile. In addition to Abby supporting EbonyEnergy Publishing and Highest Good Publications, I have referred her to my top clients/authors. Let me know if you need any additional information or any specifics. Again, I will be happy to talk about Abby. I am her number one cheerleader!

Thanks,

Cheryl Katherine Wash
